	Question: Comments about student effort
	Everything about this course was pretty reasonable.
	Yes, I appreciated relevant and usually manageable course readings/hw.
	Easy enough to attend all the classes. Having a 9:05am class sorta sucks, but sometimes it can't be avoided. I'm not really complaining.
	yes- the amount of information we needed to know for the exam was a little overwhelming but manageable
	All readings outside of class were reasonable and doable. I've had past INTA classes where there were way too many readings to complete.
	I thought so, but I did not make as good of a grade as I thought I should have.
	Yes I think the amount of effort expected was totally appropriate!
	Question: Course best aspect
	Class discussions on particular topics were really interesting to hear, and the case studies that we did I thought were valuable.
	I really enjoyed the readings and group projects. It helped me learn a lot.
	Very strong lectures and assignments that really facilitated the learning.
	Readings were of decent length, and I loved how each topic started with a chapter from the textbook and then went to recent news articles so we could actually see how each topic could be applied to a current event happening around the world. Super helpful for establishing context and really driving home the point.
	Country project presentations!
	Interesting but succinct content. It was nice being able to study a country over the semester, I learned a lot about my country.
	The class activities
	After the lecture, we would look at specific country cases and apply the concepts we learned. Loved the interactiveness!

	I liked the country assignments and how we got to choose to focus on what we found interesting.
	I enjoyed how we would take breaks during class to have small group discussions. However, I was not a fan of when we would be assigned to do independent research for 10mins or so just because I think people often got sidetracked.
	The constant use of online tools (Freedom House, Constitute Project, etc.) to aid learning
	The final course presentations really wrapped up everything very well. However, I did not feel like the midterm was an accurate reflection of my knowledge in the course. The midterm being weighted so heavily really did pull grades down if you were not prepared for a very specific style of questions. I wish there was a quiz before the midterm and after where we had an opportunity to see what kinds of questions would be asked.
	In class activities were fun and the professor is extremely kind
	Really good at engaging the class in the material
	The conversational aspects that helped me learn
	Professor interest and enthusiasm for this course were through the roof which helped me take in interest in the material as well.
	Dr. Greenstein is a very engaging and thoughtful teacher. I really enjoyed the lecture/discussion combo of the class. I think this is in the top two INTA classes I've taken so far at Tech
	I really enjoyed the content the course covered. I found it extremely interesting and exciting, especially because we can look at current events within the classroom.
	You did the reading before hand, there was a review of that material , then you immediately jumped into real world examples and the like. So I loved the class structure.
	Question: Course improvements
	Sometimes the small-group class discussions were difficult to do. This is a morning class, and a bunch of people aren't awake enough sometimes to show how well they know the course material.
	I really have no suggestions for improvement. I enjoyed the class.
	Honestly, more smaller assignments. Gauge whether or not students are on the right track at small intervals so any glaring errors are caught before major papers.
	I don't like group projects, but who does? With that said, I think group projects will always be a facet of life, so no real complaints there either.
	Sometimes in class activities could be a bit vague about what we were supposed to get out of it, since it was so open to interpretation.
	The spacing out of the papers and exams-- the class didn't have any assignments due and then all of a sudden we had a midterm and two papers due during the span of a month. I wished we had the midterm earlier or two midterms
	The only thing I can think of is a later class time!
	I think it would be beneficial to have the dates of the papers and midterms a little more spread out, especially paper #1 and midterm #1.
	Have tests be more representative of material learned in class
	Because the grading is fairly strict, I think it would be helpful for there to be more consistent checkpoints (like reading quizzes) throughout the semester so that people are aware of how well they are doing
	Smaller class sizes
	I personally don't like participation grades and don't think they are reflective of student comprehension of course material or true student engagement
	I think the group project was a little frustrating; I'm really busy and it was a pain to coordinate with group members who weren't trying very hard and didn't care very much about getting a good grade.
	Sorry, I really liked it and have no notes
	Question: Other comments about quality of course
	Didn't attend enough to have useful criticism. The classes I did attend were engaging and informative. The structure of lecture and group work promoted solid understanding.

	The class was enjoyable as a whole, and I liked going through theory then examples, I just felt the grading structure was a little harsh.
	I would have appreciated lecture classes that were more structured and focused on what we need to know, and less about discussion. Also, the writing on the white board is too messy to understand/follow along with sometimes
	Question: Other overall comments
	Love this class!
	I loved the class! I think I learned a lot
	Question: AdminComments
	Loved it!
	Nothing but nice things to say. It's a required course, but definitely one of the more enjoyable ones.
	I thought this was a very effective course and learned a lot!
	don't schedule a 9am in the farthest building from campus--it takes most people over 30 minutes to get here.
	Dr. Greenstein did a great job, she's a wonderful teacher
	This isn't on the teacher, but I shouldn't be this hard to get into the building if you aren't an INTA major. This is the only building I encountered that is like this on campus, and I don't really get why.
	Question: Instructor greatest strength
Greenstein	The instructor was very helpful and understanding, and it was clear when we had class discussions that she was passionate about the subjects.
Greenstein	Professor Greenstein really seemed knowledgeable about the subject matter. She deeply sparked my interest in comparative politics.
Greenstein	Very easy to work with and communicate with, also made lectures fun and enjoyable.
Greenstein	Availability for consultation -- she'd drop everything if it helped a student score even a point higher on an assignment or understand something even just a little bit better.
Greenstein	Explained concepts very well and able to answer any questions in an interesting and enthusiastic manner.
Greenstein	Leading engaging class discussion and promoting constructive discourse.
Greenstein	The professor did an amazing job responding to her students. Office hours were very helpful and it was obvious she wanted you to succeed.
Greenstein	She doesn't just lecture, but she also constantly asks questions to get feedback from the class. It was a very 2-way interaction we had in this class!
Greenstein	Dr. Greenstein gave excellent feedback and really made sure that we were all set up for success.
Greenstein	Dr. Greenstein was so helpful when it came to making herself available to students for assistance. Her feedback really helped me on my essays. Her patience is much appreciated and it made me feel comfortable to ask questions.
Greenstein	Very receptive to student feedback and genuine enthusiasm for the subject
Greenstein	Making comparative politics seem really really fun.
Greenstein	Her enthusiasm towards the material, as well as being approachable and helpful
Greenstein	Passion
Greenstein	Enthusiasm about the subject as i said in one of these boxes earlier was to me the greatest strength
Greenstein	super nice and always available to help, she clearly communicated what we needed to do to succeed in her class. also very engaging and loved all the class discussion
Greenstein	Dr. Greenstein was extremely proficient in the subject material and was excited to share her knowledge. I always felt like I could ask her a question and she would give me a correct answer or an informed matter of opinion. She was super helpful outside of the classroom as she was willing to help with assignments as much as long as you would be willing to put in the time to meet with her. She rewards students for consistent attendance which is nice when attendance is a required aspect for the class.
Greenstein	I just really liked the whole thing

Question: Instructor improvements
Greenstein	The participation requirements sometimes were a bit taxing
Greenstein	Teach the class at a better time!
Greenstein	Very knowledgeable about Europe -- maybe try and use some examples from the rest of the world in everyday class settings? The readings address the rest of the world too, so once again, not really complaining.
Greenstein	The spacing out of exams and papers
Greenstein	Not necessarily an improvement: I was regularly late to class as result of the distance between my class before this one, so I wish/hope that this doesn't affect my attendance grade
Greenstein	More clarity about the midterm assignments
Greenstein	Making it more clear what it takes to get an A in this course, as well as on each of the assignments. There was too much ambiguity in general regarding what was required of us
Greenstein	Class structure
Greenstein	N/A
Greenstein	no group projects please
Question: Instructor other comments
Greenstein	I've really gotten a lot from this class that will put me at a good position for the next semester.
Greenstein	Honestly she's an amazing teacher -- one of the best I've had at this school. I have nothing but nice things to say.
Greenstein	It was overall a great course to take. You were an amazing teacher who really wanted us all to be excited about the world we live in!
